You may include the net value of the beneficiary’s home as an asset. The net value of the home is the appraised value of the home, minus the sum of all loans secured by a mortgage, trust deed, or other lien on the home. If you list the net value of the beneficiary’s home, then you must include documentation demonstrating that the beneficiary owns the home, a recent appraisal by a licensed appraiser, and evidence of the amount of all loans secured by a mortgage, trust deed, or other lien on the home.

You may not include the net value of the beneficiary’s automobile unless the beneficiary has more than one automobile, and at least one automobile is not included as an asset. Submit evidence of the value of the assets listed. Evidence must include the name of the asset holder, a description of the asset, proof of ownership, and the basis of the owner’s claim of its net cash value.

You may submit evidence of the value of the beneficiary's household members’ assets. Evidence must include the name of the asset holder, a description of the asset, proof of ownership, and the basis for the owner’s claim of its net cash value.

As the person who agrees to financially support the beneficiary, you must show you have sufficient income or financial resources to support the beneficiary. Failure to provide evidence of sufficient income or financial resources may result in the denial of the foreign national's application for a visa or his or her removal from the United States.
